ANDREW J. McKENNA
Chairman of the Board
President

Though he is a very private, unassuming individual, Andy McKenna is also quite aware of how important it is to be involved . . . to be a good citizen.

At the time of the announcement to the Chicago media last June 16, McKenna noted why he chose to undertake such an assignment with the Chicago Cubs.

"I have a tremendous love for this city and a love for baseball," McKenna related, "and a warm relationship with Stan Cook (President of Tribune Company) and John Madigan (Executive Vice President of Tribune Company). We're anxious and very hopeful for the Cubs in 1982, but because things sometimes don't happen overnight, we implore the fans to have patience.

"I'm just delighted," he concluded, "to be part of the transition that has insured the Cubs solid ownership on an ongoing basis."

The Cubs were purchased by Tribune Company on June 16, 1981 for $20.5 million.

Likewise, McKenna was very pleased that Dallas Green accepted the position of Executive Vice President and General Manager last October 15. McKenna is convinced Green will restore the Cubs to respectability in the baseball world.

"He's a strong leader," noted McKenna. "Dallas is who we wanted . . . we needed. When we looked over his credentials we were delighted with what we saw. He was our number one choice from the very beginning."

Prior to coming to the ballclub, McKenna had been on the board of the Chicago White Sox from 1975 through the early part of 1981. He was White Sox Acting Chairman of the Board from August, 1980 until February 1981.

McKenna is also President and Chief Executive Officer of Schwarz Paper Company in Morton Grove, Illinois.

The graduate of the University of Notre Dame (B.S.) and graduate of DePaul University Law School (J.D.) has been very active in directing several civic and charitable organizations. Presently he is director of the following groups or organizations: Lake Shore National Bank, Mohican Corporation, Ryan Insurance Group, Skyline Corporation, Sargent-Welch Scientific Company, Catholic Charities of Chicago, National Foundation March of Dimes (Chicago Chapter), St. Francis Hospital of Evanston, Illinois and Woodlands Academy.

He is also a Trustee of the University of Notre Dame and the La Lumiere School of LaPorte, Indiana.

Andrew J. McKenna is married to the former Joan Pickett. He and his wife have seven children: Suzanne, Karen, Andy, Jr., Bill, Joanie, Kathy and Meg. McKenna's hobbies include tennis, reading and involvement in civic activities.

DALLAS GREEN
Executive Vice President and General Manager

For 24 of his 26 years in professional baseball, Dallas Green earned his daily bread in the Philadelphia Phillies organization. In fact, there was hardly an aspect of the organization which he didn't explore.

Green played 5½ years in the Phils farm system beginning in 1955, then spent six years (1969-1964 and 1967) with the parent club. In between, there were short coffee stops with the Washington Senators (1965) and the New York Mets (1966). He pitched in eight games with the Phils in 1976, then retired.

By the time Green got to the major leagues he had spent much of the speed on his fastball. By then, he was primarily a relief pitcher of mediocre reputation, although at one point in his minor league career he had been compared to Dick "Turk" Farrell, a hard-throwing pitcher for the Phillies and Houston Astros who was considered to be the Rich "Goose" Gossage of his era.

Today, Dallas Green is not remembered for his 20-22 lifetime major league record ("I was a 20-game winner in the big leagues," he often quips. "It just took me eight years to do it.") What he is remembered for is his leadership and the methods and successes of motivating players that led to a World Championship for Philadelphia in 1980.

When Andrew J. McKenna, chairman of the board and president of the Chicago National League Ball Club Inc. (CUBS) announced on October 15, 1981 that George Dallas Green was his man, the reasons were many for naming him as the club's executive vice president and general manager.

Outwardly, one only had to look at the task he accomplished in Philadelphia. From 1972 through 1979, he served the Phillies organization as the director of scouting and was responsible for the farm system's player development. The Phils prospered because of shrewd draft choices, players such as Mike Schmidt, Keith Moreland and Lonnie Smith.

While he had a major role in building the Phils into yearly divisional contenders and champions, it wasn't until he took over as manager in late 1979 that the club jelled into a team that would one day win the whole ball of wax. In 1980, Green led the Phillies into the World Series, only the third time in 98 years that the franchise had participated in the Fall Classic. They lost in 1915 and 1950, but 1980 was different.

The Phillies went on to defeat the Kansas City Royals in six games to win the first World Championship in the organization's history. Then, one year later, after guiding the Phils into the Eastern Divisional playoffs, Green said farewell.

It was on to Chicago and Wrigley Field for a new challenge.

"Green's background is consistent with the criteria established for the job he is assuming," McKenna said upon Green's appointment. "It was considered important that the candidate have a background in player development and come from a winning organization."

"The only thing we didn't want was people who were recycled," added McKenna. "This is a business where people bounce around a lot."

Inwardly, his reputation among the game's insiders is golden. He is revered as a disciplinarian who demands the complete and undivided efforts of his fellow workers and players. He is a man who abhors losing.

"The sale of the club was a monumental piece of history in itself because it began a new tradition for the Chicago Cubs history in my opinion," noted Green. "With my hiring, it began the new thinking for the organization.

"We have put aside the old way of doing things here and have begun to try some new things that would help the organization, its players, and, most importantly, the fans.

"We are on the verge of doing something very exciting, creating a little piece of history ourselves. To me, it's a great challenge and I can't wait until we all are rewarded."

After his playing career ended in 1967, Green served as the Reading, PA (Eastern League) pitching coach the remainder of that season. In 1968 he managed Huron, SD (Northern League) and the following year piloted Pulaski, VA. He then became the assistant to Paul Owens, the director of the minor leagues, in 1970. He moved to the top of that department when Owens was elevated to director of player personnel in June of 1972. Green held that position until late 1979 when he replaced Danny Ozark as manager of the fifth place Phillies on August 31. Under him the rest of the way the ballclub was 19-11.

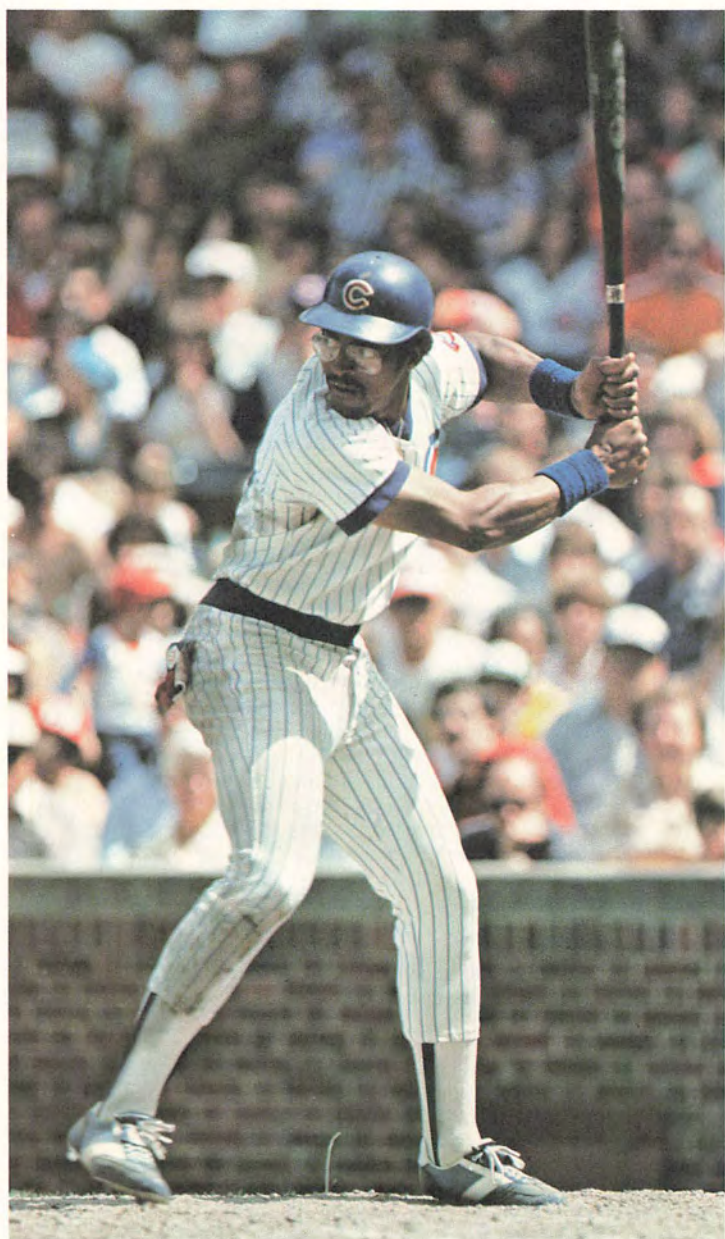

In 1980, in his first full season, the Phils finished the regular season with a 91-71 record. By winning the World Series, he became only the fourth rookie manager to pull off the trick, the other being Bucky Harris (1924 Washington Senators), Eddie Dyer (1946 St. Louis Cardinals) and Ralph Houk (1961 New York Yankees).

Green was born 47 years ago in Newport, Delaware and attended the University of Delaware where he received a Bachelor's degree in 1981. He signed with the Phillies in 1955 after his junior year at Delaware and reported to Reidsville, NC. It wasn't until midway through the 1960 season that he broke into the big leagues with the Phillies.

In 1958 he married the former Sylvia Taylor. They have four children: Dana, John, Kim and Douglas.

Dallas' hobbies include small game and deer hunting, working on his 30-acre farm, all sports and listening to country and western music.

WRIGLEY FIELD — HOME OF THE CUBS

The Chicago Cubs have always made it a point to provide fans with the best possible facility in which to watch major league baseball in comfort and convenience, but at the same time, to retain the rich heritage of the Cubs and Wrigley Field. One of the few remaining parks in the major leagues that was designed for the sole purpose of playing baseball, Wrigley Field is still a place where fans are close to the action. This has not changed, even though the Cubs have spent several million dollars in recent years in improvements and modernization projects, excluding expenditures for each year's regular maintenance.

More than a half century of baseball tradition is present within the ivy-covered walls of Wrigley Field. After all, here is where Babe Ruth made his famous gesture toward the bleachers before slamming a homer there, where the Cubs' famed "murders' row" of Rogers Hornsby, Hack Wilson, Kiki Cuyler, Riggs Stephenson and Charlie Grimm pounded opposing pitchers, where Grover Cleveland Alexander, Dizzy Dean, Claude Passeau, Charley Root, Larry French and Bill Lee toed the pitching rubber.

Even in this day of instant communications the Cubs still maintain the tradition of flying a flag bearing either a "W" or an "L" atop the scoreboard after a game to inform passerbys of the outcome of the day's contest. A blue flag with a white "W" indicates a win while a white flag with a blue "L" indicates a loss.

In 1978 a new innovation was started to inform night travelers. A blue light atop the scoreboard signals victory and a white one indicates defeat.

Early History of the Park

The Cubs moved to the present North Side location for the start of the 1916 season. The site had been the playing field for the Chicago Whales of the short-lived Federal League, which operated in 1914-15. The Cubs played their first game on the present site April 20, 1916, defeating Cincinnati 7-6 in 11 innings. The seating capacity was 14,000 originally.

Next, the park was double-decked in the winter of 1926-27, nearly doubling the seating capacity. During the summer of 1937 improved bleachers were constructed. Then, in 1938, wide chairs were installed in the boxes and grandstand. This added to fan comfort, reducing the park's total capacity by several thousand.

During the early years, the park was know simply as Cubs Park. Then in 1926 it was officially named Wrigley Field in honor of William Wrigley, Jr.

Many changes have been made at Wrigley Field over the last two decades. The seats in the lower grandstand down both foul lines were turned-in so fans sitting down the lines could see home plate; the upper deck was completely re-constructed (in a four-year project that began in the winter of 1967-68 and was completed in the winter of 1970-71); plastic, self-rising, contour seats were installed in the lower deck reserved seating area, replacing folding chairs. The most recent improvement project took place during the winter of 1981-82 when new office space was added and the old offices were refinished.

The Flags of Wrigley Field Tell a Story

At all Cubs home games Old Glory flies from the centerfield masthead, highest point in the park. The flags of the 12 National League cities, eight states, and Quebec fly over the main gate.

Before and during each game, 12 pennants, one for each National League Club, flies from the yardarms in order of the standing of each division on the morning game — the first place team in the East Division at top left, and the West Division leader at the right.

The Chicago Cubs flag — red and white on a blue background — displays 16 red stars representing the Cubs' 16 National Championships. The two blue stars represent Cubs' two World Championships.

Public Transportation is Easy and Convenient

Located at Clark and Addison Sts., 3600 North, 1000 West, Clark St. buses (No. 22) and Addison buses (No. 152) take you to main gates. CTA Rapid Transit trains ("L" and subway) take you to ¼ block from the ball park (Addison St. station). All northbound and southbound "B" trains on the North-South Rapid Transit route stop at Addison on days of all Cubs home games throughout the season. "A" trains stop an hour before game time.

HIGHLIGHTS OF CUBS HISTORY

The Chicago Cubs are rich in heritage. The team is most proud of the fact that it is the only one of the original eight charter members of the National League which has operated continuously in the same city in which it was franchised over 100 years ago.

One of the prime movers behind the establishment of the new National League in 1876 was William A. Hulbert, president of the Chicago Club. He was one of the early presidents of the League, and held the dual role of league president and club president until his death in 1882. Hulbert, along with the first manager of the Chicago Club, Albert G. Spalding, spent the entire month of December 1875 writing the constitution and by-laws of the new National League. These rules have lasted almost as they were written until this day.

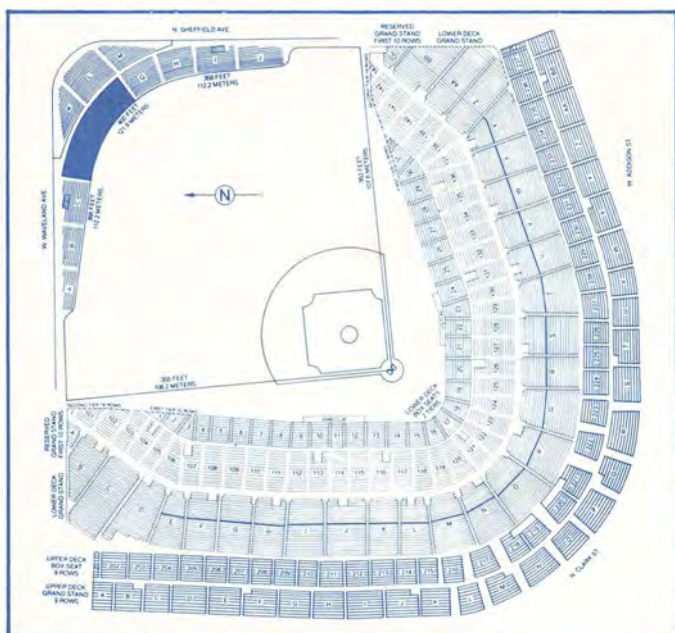

Albert Spalding was also the first pitching star for the Chicago team. He won 46 games during his first managerial season including eight shutouts.

The Chicago Club was originally known as the "White Stockings," although in those days nicknames were not official. About 1890 that name was dropped and the team was known by several nicknames, most notably the "Colts" and "Orphans". Legend has it that a newspaper writer, searching for a short nickname to fit a headline, first used the name "Cubs" on March 27, 1902. It was officially adopted as the nickname of the club in 1907.

Early in the 20th century, the club came under the absentee ownership of the Taft family of Cincinnati, but following the 1915 season a group of influential Chicagoans, among them William Wrigley, Jr., purchased the club. Five years later, in 1921, Wrigley became majority stockholder. After the death of William Wrigley, Jr., in 1932, his son, Philip K. Wrigley, became majority stockholder. Philip K. Wrigley passed away in 1977, leaving his son, William Wrigley, principal owner of the ball club.

The ownership of the Cubs, by the Wrigley family, came to an end on June 16, 1981 when principal stockholder, William Wrigley, sold the franchise to Tribune Company. The Wrigleys had controlling interest in the Cubs for more than 60 years when the transaction took place.

Now, under new ownership the Cubs have begun to take a different look. Mr. Andrew J. McKenna, the Cubs' Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of the Board, named Dallas Green to lead the Cubs into the future and "Build a New Tradition" at Wrigley Field.

NOTES ON CUB HISTORY

In 106 National League seasons, the Cubs have played 15,457 games and won 7,987 (150 were tied) of them, both lifetime and major league records.

The Cubs, as a team, have hit 100 or more home runs in 29 of their last 32 seasons.

The all-time major league record for wins in a season and winning percentage in a season is held by the 1906 Cubs, who won 116 and lost only 36, for a .763 percentage.

On September 26, 1908, Cub pitcher Ed Reulbach pitched both ends of a doubleheader against Brooklyn, shutting them out in both games by scores of 5-0 and 3-0.

The largest crowd to ever see a baseball game at Wrigley Field was 51,556 on June 27, 1930, against Brooklyn. Of that number, 30,476 were Ladies Day guests and 1,332 passholders, so the official paid crowd that day was only 19,748.

The 1935 Cubs set the club record for consecutive wins in a season with 21 in a row.

The 1945 Cubs helped themselves to the National League pennant as they swept 19 doubleheaders and split 10.

The 1959 Cubs hit 182 homers during the season to establish the club record.

The largest Opening Day crowd at Wrigley Field, 45,777, attended the 1978 home opener vs. Pittsburgh on April 14.

The 1969 Cubs drew 1,674,993 fans to Wrigley Field to establish their single season attendance mark.

CUB HIGHLIGHT FILM

The 1981 Cub highlight film is among many baseball films available from Information and Services Office at Wrigley Field. Also there are 16mm color films of past World Series and All-Star Games, along with baseball instructional films. Contact the Cubs' Public Relations Office or call (312) 281-6955.

LEE ELIA - MANAGER

Elia was appointed the Cubs manager on October 22, 1981, succeeding Joe Amalfitano. This will be Elia's first season as a major league manager, but he is no stranger to the man who brought him to Chicago, Cubs Executive Vice President and General Manager Dallas Green. Elia served as Green's third base coach with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1980 and 1981 after managing in the Phillies farm system since 1975.

In 1975 Elia led Spartanburg, SC (Class A) Phillies to the South Atlantic championship. Both his 1978 Reading, PA (Class AA) and 1979 Oklahoma City (Class AAA) teams won their divisions but lost in the playoffs.

As a player with the Chicago White Sox and Chicago Cubs, primarily as a reserve shortstop, Elia played under managers Eddie Stanky and Leo Durocher. With the White Sox in 1966, Elia played in 80 games, batting .205 in 195 plate appearances. With the Cubs in 1968, the former University of Delaware student made 17 trips to the plate in 15 games, batting .176. His lifetime hitting statistics includes three home runs and 25 RBI, with a .203 batting average.

Nicknamed the "Banty Rooster" by his Arkansas (International League) teammates in 1964 after being ejected from a game following a disputed play at second base. Batted and threw righthanded. Playing weight was 194 pounds. Began professional career at Elmira of the New York Penn League in 1959. Other minor league stops included Williamsport (Eastern League), Chattanooga (Southern League), Buffalo (International League), Arkansas and Indianapolis and Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League.

"We have learned that in order to be strong in the future, we've got to develop both talent and attitude," Elia says. "We have a lot of work to do in every area of the major league ball player. Not so much in talent, but more so in the reconstruction of the Chicago Cub ball player. With the addition of the players we've acquired during the off-season, we think we've got a good start at bringing in people who know what it takes.

"We're looking to change the attitude in Chicago. With a little pulling together and grinding it out we may get there a lot sooner than some people expect."

Lee was born July 16, 1937 in Philadelphia, PA. He and his wife Penny and their daughter Tana reside in Clearwater, FL during the off-season.

BILL BUCKNER (22)

POSITION: 1B

BATS: Left

HEIGHT: 6'1"

WEIGHT: 185

AGE: 32, turns 33 on December 14

BORN: 12/14/49 in Vallejo, CA

MAJOR LEAGUE SERVICE: 11 years, 78 days

ACQUIRED: Became a Cub on January 11, 1977 when he was traded by the Dodgers, along with Ivan DeJesus, for Rick Monday and Mike Garman.

PERSONAL: William Joseph Buckner is married and resides in Chicago during the off-season with his wife Jody and their daughter Brittany. Bill is a graduate of Napa High School in Napa California and he attended the University of Southern California. His hobbies including hunting, fishing and hiking. He is also a rancher during the off-season.

PRIOR TO MAJORS: Bill was an outstanding athlete in high school as he competed in baseball and football... on the gridiron he was a superb wide receiver being named to the Coaches' All-America Team his junior and senior seasons as well as being named to the Northern California Football Hall of Fame... Buckner was the Dodgers second selection in the June 1968 free agent draft... in 1968 he led the Pioneer League (Rookie Class) in batting (.344), hits (88) and triples (8), finished second in runs scored (54), total bases (126) and stolen bases (15) and was named to the league and National Association Rookie-West All-Star teams... in 1970 he was third in batting (.355) in the Pacific Coast League (Class AAA) and was named an outfielder on the PCL All-Star team.

MAJOR LEAGUES: Bill made his major league debut at the end of the 1969 season but made the major leagues to stay in 1971 as he batted .277 and was named to the Topps Major League Rookie All-Star Team... in 1972 he batted .319 and finished fourth in the National League in that department... Bill had, what is for him, an off-year in 1973 but he rebounded in 1974 to bat .314 and steal 31 bases to help lead the Dodgers to the National League pennant... on April 18, 1975 he suffered a severely sprained left ankle sliding into second base... was placed on the Disabled List until May 12, then underwent surgery the first week of September to have a tendon removed

... underwent surgery again in October, 1976 to remove bone chips ... rebounded from his injury and batted .301 in 1976 while playing in 154 games ... became a Cub on January 11, 1977 and batted .284 his first season in Cub pinstripes ... In 1978, Bill led the Cubs in hitting (.323) and drove in 74 runs to be named the Cubs' Major League Player Award by the Pitch and Hit Club and Chicago's Player of the Year by the Chicago Chapter of the Baseball Writer's Association of America ... he was also chosen the most popular professional athlete in the Chicagoland area in a poll of fans by SportsPhone ... Bill batted .284 in 1979, had a career high in homers (14) and led the club in doubles (34) ... 1980 was a season Bill will remember for a long time as he won his first NL batting title with a .324 average and was also the league's toughest batter to strike out.

1981 SEASON: Despite the shortened season, Bill had the finest offensive campaign of his career ... he led the league in doubles (35) and was one of the league leaders in several departments including second in hits (131), third in RBI (75), fourth in game winning RBI (11), fifth in batting average (.311) and sixth in slugging percentage (.480) ... Buckner batted .313 against lefties, .311 against righties and .319 at Wrigley Field ... Bill also batted at over a .300 clip against seven teams (.435 vs. ATL, .359 vs. LA, .357 vs. MTL, .348 vs. CIN, .325 vs. SF, .320 vs. PGH and .308 vs. PHL) ... Buckner was again one of the toughest batters to fan as he struck out once every 29.94 plate appearances ... Bill was also named to appear in his first mid-summer classic in August.

FREE AGENT DRAFT

Major league and National Association clubs participate in two meetings a year for the purpose of drafting free agent player talent. Selection of a free agent entitles the club to the exclusive rights of negotiation with the player for a specified period (from the date of selection until 15 days prior to the next draft meeting). Draft meetings are held in June and January.

There are two categories to each draft meeting:

(1) Regular Phase — Selection of free agents is in inverse order of major league standings. Each organization may select only one player for each of its major league, "AAA" and "AA" rosters but is not limited to the number of picks for "A" level. Minor league clubs select in the same order as their parent clubs.

(2) Secondary Phase — Selection is of free agents who had been drafted at a previous meeting, but who were not subsequently signed during the negotiation period. It is possible for a club to redraft a player whom it had been unable to sign after the original selection, but only with written consent of that player. Order of selection in the secondary phase is determined by lot.

JUNIOR KENNEDY (15)

BATS: Right

THROWS: Right

HEIGHT: 6'0"

WEIGHT: 185

AGE: 31, turns 32 on August 9

BORN: 8/9/50 in Fort Gibson, OK

MAJOR LEAGUE SERVICE: Four years, 59 days

ACQUIRED: Became a Cub on October 23, 1981 when he was traded by the Reds for cash or a player to be named later.

PERSONAL: Junior Raymond Kennedy is married and resides in Arvin, CA with his wife Joy and their son Jarek during the off-season. He attended Bakersfield College in Bakersfield, CA. He is the brother of James Kennedy, former infielder with the Yankees, Cardinals and Twins organizations.

PRIOR TO MAJORS: Junior received a reported $50,000 bonus to sign with the Baltimore organization in 1968 ... in 1972 he led the International League shortstops in double plays with 80 ... four years later, led all American Association second basemen with a .976 fielding average. Before being called up to the Reds in 1974, Kennedy had played second base and shortstop ... his first season with the Reds he also played third base ... he was the tenth player selected overall in the 1968 free agent draft ... traded with outfielder Merv Rettenmund and catcher Bill Wood by Orioles to Reds for pitcher Ross Grimsley and catcher Wally Williams, December 4, 1973.

MAJOR LEAGUES: Kennedy saw some regular duty in 1979 when Reds second basemen Joe Morgan was hampered by injuries ... in 1980 he appeared in a career high 104 games and went to bat 337 times batting .261 ... had 88 hits and 34 RBI ... used mainly as a utility infielder he can play second, shortstop and third base ... held down the starting second base job until a July slump let Ron Oester into the lineup ... had hit .292 before the All-Star break ... one of his bigger thrills came against the Cubs on May 4 when he hit a game-winning grand slam ... it was his second career home run ... had 200 putouts and 303 assists while committing six errors for a fielding percentage of .988.

1981 SEASON: Junior went to bat 44 times last season and hit .250 ... hit .308 after the All-Star break ... used mainly as a late-inning replacement ... could fill the same role this year ... despite limited action he had a .346 slugging percentage and a .321 on base ratio.

SCORING RULE — PINCH HITTERS

A player shall be considered a pinch hitter only if he enters the game as a substitute batter and then only on his first time at bat which must be before he becomes a fielder. (If the team bats around and a pinch hitter comes up a second time in the inning in which he first appeared, he will not be considered a pinch hitter during that second time up.)

A substitute hitter for a designated hitter is both a pinch hitter and a designated hitter on his first time at bat. On subsequent trips to the plate he is a designated hitter only.

HOLMES BREAKERS

On July 12, 1945, pitcher Hank Wyse stopped Boston's Tommy Holmes hitting streak at 37 games. The previous pitcher to hold him hitless was the Cubs' Claude Passeau on June 3.

CUBS NO-HIT PITCHERS

Since 1900

- 1904 Wicker, June 11, vs. Giants at New York (Pitched 9.1 hitless innings, won 1-0 on one-hitter in 12).
- 1910 Cole, July 31 game No. 2 of doubleheader vs. Cardinals at St. Louis, won 4-0 (7 innings).
- 1915 Lavender, Aug. 31, game No. 1 of doubleheader vs. Giants at New York, won 2-0.
- 1917 Vaughn, May 2, vs. Red Legs at Cubs Park (Pitched 9.1 hitless innings, lost 1-0 on 2 hits in 10th; Cincinnati's Toney pitched 10-inning no hitter for a double no hit game thru 9 innings).
- 1955 Jones, May 12, vs. Pirates at Wrigley Field, won 3-0.
- 1960 Cardwell, May 15, game No. 2 of doubleheader vs. Cardinals at Wrigley Field, won 4-0.
- 1969 Holtzman, Aug. 19, vs. Braves at Wrigley Field, won 3-0.
- 1971 Holtzman, June 3, vs. Reds at Cincinnati (N), won 1-0.
- 1972 Hooton, April 16, vs. Phillies at Wrigley Field, won 4-0.
- 1972 Pappas, Sept. 2, vs. Padres at Wrigley Field, won 8-0 (No Cub has pitched a perfect game; Pappas came closest by not allowing a batter to reach base until walking a man with 2 out in 9th inning).

NO-HITTER DAY

On August 19, 1965, Jim Maloney of the Cincinnati Reds threw a 10-inning no-hitter against the Cubs in Wrigley Field. The Reds won the game 1-0 on a home run by Leo Cardenas. Four years later, August 19, 1969, Cubs lefty Ken Holtzman threw the first of his two no-hitters when he beat the Atlanta Braves 3-0 at Wrigley Field. All three runs came from a first-inning Ron Santo home run.

SAVE RULE

Rule (10:20) tells the official scorer to credit a pitcher with a save when he meets all three of the following conditons: (1) He is the finishing pitcher in a game won by his club; and (2) He is not the winning pitcher; and (3) He qualifies under the following conditions: (a) He enters the game with a lead of no more than three runs and pitches for at least one inning; or (b) He enters the game with the potential tying run either on base, or at bat, or on deck, (that is, the potential tying run is either already on base or is one of the first two basemen he faces); or (c) He pitches effectively for at least three innings.

ROSTER LIMITATIONS

Rosters are limited to 25 players from opening day through August 31 and 40 players from September 1 through conclusion of season. Players in military service do not count against the under control list while on active duty. Upon separation from the service, a player will be reinstated to his club's normal player limits after he has completed a 15-day trial period or has participated in a championship game, whichever comes first.

DID YOU KNOW . . . ?

Cubs pitcher Jim Lavender defeated the New York Giants' Rube Marquard to end the great Giant hurler's 19-game winning streak. A record that still stands.

On September 29, 1935, Augie Galan played his 154th game of the season for the Cubs without hitting into a double play to set a current major league record.

A PAIR OF FIRSTS

On April 20, 1916, the Cubs played their first game in Wrigley Field and defeated the Cincinnati Reds 7-6 in 11 innings.

Thirty years later to the day, the first Cubs game was telecast over WBKD with Joe Wilson at the microphone. Unfortunately for the Cubs, Harry Breechen hurled a six-hitter and the St. Louis Cardinals blanked the Cubs 2-0.

GENERAL RULES INFORMATION

Player Limits: Clubs must cut active roster to a maximum of 25 players on opening day . . . From Sept. 1 to opening day, clubs may carry up to 40 players.

Trades within the National League: From midnight the last day of the season to midnight June 15, players contracts may be traded or sold without getting waivers . . . From June 15 to the end of the season, league waivers are necessary.

Waivers: Players contracts may be available for purchase by other clubs in reverse order of the League standings at the time waivers expire, if more than 30 days after opening day. Otherwise, in reverse order of the standing at the close of the previous season.

Inter-League Trades: From midnight on the fifth day after the completion of the World Series to midnight of the day preceding the last day of the Winter Meetings and from February 15 to midnight, March 15, player contracts may be traded or sold between clubs of the National and American League without waivers . . . From midnight of the final day of the Winter Meetings each December, to midnight, June 15, and from the last day of the season through the fourth day after the completion of the World Series, waivers are necessary in the assignor's league . . . From midnight, June 15, to the last day of the season, waivers from all major league clubs are necessary.

Continued

Regulation Game: A regulation game consists of nine innings unless extended because of a tie score or shortened because (1) the home team needs none of its half of the ninth or only part of it; or (2) because the umpire-in-chief calls the game after five completed innings. A regulations game may be less than five innings if the home team is ahead after the first of the fifth, or takes the lead or ties the score while at bat in the fifth.

Tie Games: A regulation game that is called by the umpire-in-chief when both teams have the same number of runs is a tie game. Individual player performances are official and are entered in the records, but the game does not count in the League standings and may be rescheduled at a later date.

Suspended Game: A game becomes a suspended game if it is terminated for any of the following reasons: (1) a curfew imposed by law; (2) a time limit permissible under the league rules; (3) light failure or malfunction of a mechanical field device under control of the home club (including automatic tarpaulin or water removal equipment; or (4) darkness because of any law, the lights may not be turned on. No game called because of a curfew or a time limit shall be a suspended game unless it has progressed far enough to have been a regulation game (see above). A game called under either provision (3) or (4) shall be a suspended game at any time after it starts. Note: weather and similar conditions shall take precedence in determining whether a called game shall be a suspended game. A game can only be considered a suspended game if stopped for any of the four reasons specified. Any legal game called due to weather with the score tied is a "tie game" and must be replayed in its entirety.

CUBS “HOME AWAY FROM HOME” IN ARIZONA

The Cubs returned to Mesa, Arizona in 1979 re-establishing their Spring Training Camp there for the first time since 1965. However, instead of old Rendezvous Park, the Cubs now train in new HoHoKam Park on North Center Street just north of Brown Road.

The Park was opened on March 11, 1977, and was previously the spring home of the Oakland A's. The Cubs also have three nearby diamonds at Fitch Park on which to practice and for workouts of squad members who are not playing during exhibition games. This is a plus for the Cubs as they not only prepare for the current season but build for the future.

A group of Mesa businessmen called the HoHoKams provide assistance to the Cubs in operating the Park, selling tickets, etc. The HoHoKams and the Park are named after the Indian tribe that inhabited the region many years ago. They were the first to bring water to the dry area by a system of canals which can still be traced today.

Mesa is only the fourth training site used by the Chicago Cubs in over 50 years. They trained for 26 years from 1921 thru 1951, excluding the World War II years, at Catalina Island. Mesa was home of the Cubs from 1952 through 1965. After a one-year stop at Long Beach, California, the Cubs set up camp at Scottsdale, Arizona where they remained through the Spring of 1978.

Mesa, a friendly city which still harbors many Cubs fans from past days, is located just southeast of Scottsdale and Phoenix. It has a population over 150,000.

TEN YEARS AGO . . .

July 2, the Cubs turned in their last triple from third baseman Ron Santo to second baseman Glenn Beckert to first baseman Jim Hickman.

September 2, Milt Pappas came within one strike of hurling a perfect game at Wrigley Field. The Cubs held an 8-0 lead with two outs and a full-count on San Diego pinch-hitter Larry Stahl. Pappas walked Stahl but still retained the no-hitter.

CHICAGO NATIONAL LEAGUE ALL-TIME ROSTER 1876-1980

RADIO-TV ANNOUNCERS FOR 1982

LOU BOUDREAU

Lou Boudreau, a name synonymous with the color, excitement, and expertise of major league baseball, has participated actively in the world of professional sports all of his adult life, first as one of the greatest shortstops in the history of baseball, and then as a sports broadcaster for WGN Radio.

On January 20, 1970, Lou was voted into the Baseball Hall of Game by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

He joined the Cleveland Indians in 1939 and became one of baseball's greatest shortstops. In 1942, at the age of 24, he was named manager of the Indians and by 1948 was the most popular athlete in America, in addition to being chosen as the most valuable player in the American League.

HARRY CARAY

The Cubs have a new announcer for the 1982 season but he is not unknown to Chicago sports fans. Harry Caray had been the voice of the White Sox for 10 seasons before shifting his allegiance to the north side.

Harry has been broadcasting baseball for over 38 years, 25 of which were as the play-by-play man with the St. Louis Cardinals. In 1970, Caray went west and broadcast the Oakland A's games for one season before joining the White Sox in 1971.

Caray began his apprenticeship in radio sports before World War II at Joliet, Illinois and later, Kalamazoo, Michigan prior to joining KMOX-Radio in St. Louis.

Harry will be reunited with Milo Hamilton in the broadcast booth as they worked together in the early 50's covering the St. Louis Cardinals.

RADIO-TV ANNOUNCERS FOR 1982

MILO HAMILTON

Milo, one of the most respected sports broadcasters in America, begins his third season doing the Chicago Cubs play-by-play. For the past two campaigns, Milo has been teamed with the legendary Jack Brickhouse. Now, he will be broadcasting with Harry Caray in the television booth.

Hamilton has been associated with several major league teams during his broadcasting career. Prior to coming to the Cubs he covered the Pittsburgh Pirates for four years (1976-1979), including the Pirates' World Championship team of 1979. He also did the play-by-play for the Atlanta Braves for 10 years (1966-1975), the Chicago White Sox (1961-1965) and the Cubs on WGN Radio in 1955-1957.

In addition to his many years covering baseball, Milo has proven to be one of the busiest and most diverse broadcasters in Chicago. He covers more than 150 Cub games each season as well as 50 plus Chicago Bulls, DePaul Blue Demon and Loyola Rambler basketball games each winter.

A native of Fairfield, Iowa, Milo graduated from the University of Iowa in 1950 with a B.A. in Speech.

VINCE LLOYD

It takes an unusual quality of electricity to relay the excitement of a live sporting event over the radio waves and Vince Lloyd's voltage of enthusiasm has made him one of the most respected names in sport broadcasting.

The WGN Radio voice of the Chicago Cubs since 1965, Vince possesses the exacting expertise to convince listeners that "He was there, and saw it all," even if he was listening from his own car radio.

The recipient of hundreds of awards in sports broadcasting, his versatility extends to calling the play-by-play action of Big Ten Football games for WGN radio. Vince is truly one of the nation's top pro's in broadcast sports.

RIFLEMAN'S LAST SHOT

Chuck Connors, who went on to television fame as "The Rifleman", hit his second and last career home run off Sal Maglie to tie the game 4-4 in the top of the ninth back on August 26, 1951.

A PAIR OF LASTS

On September 2, 1970 Billy Williams played the last game of his 1,117-consecutive game streak. The Cubs blasted the Phillies 17-2 that afternoon.

On October 3, 1897, Cap Anson closed out a remarkable 27-year career with a .339 career average. In his final game, he belted two home runs against St. Louis and retired at the age of 46, the oldest player to hit a home run in the major leagues.
